

What I Learned in Modeling Class

By: Stephanie Spanier

In the Sugar and Spice Modeling Class I learned a lot. I learned to walk on a runway, stand in a model's position, and perform at a modeling show. I also learned about staying healthy, staying strong, staying fit, eating healthy, drinking enough water, and going to bed on time.

Being helpful, polite, kind, easy to work with, obeying, listening, and being confident are some of the other things I learned about. Having good manners such as saying please, thank you, and excuse me are important modeling tools too.

I think that what I learned in this modeling class will surely help me to be an excellent model! Modeling is fun!
